Concert Up In Air

To have or not to have a Pops Concert is now the big question!

Although Louis Armstrong rated as the top favorite for a concert in the student poll taken recently at convocation, the decision as to whether to sponsor a spring concert is still indefinite.

OUT OF THE 346 questionnaires returned, Armstrong received 153 first choices, Duke Ellington 82, Stan Kenton 70, the Belafonte Folk Singers 31, Ralph Marterie 27 and Chris Connar 2.

Twenty-eight students indicated that they would not attend a concert.

SINCE THE response of this poll does not justify spending $2,000 for a concert, sign-up sheets will be placed in the Union and Luther Hall next Monday through Thursday for those students who definitely would attend a Pops Concert by Armstrong.

Approximately 650 signatures are needed as a guarantee to go ahead with the plans. The students who then sign up on these sheets are morally obligated to attend the concert, according to Student Body President Fred Mai.

The dates when Armstrong will be available for an appearance are April 12-20 or May 5-20. The price would be two dollars per ticket.

Deadline Is Here

Need some cash after the holidays?

Here's a chance to win $12, $7 or $5 as prizes for the contributions to the Castle contest in the prose and poetry divisions. Deadline for the contest, to be judged by faculty members, is next Wednesday, according to Tom Maik, editor.

Ballet Russe Off Artist Series Slate

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, Artist Series scheduled for Feb. 12, has been cancelled and will be replaced by a vocal duo Jan. 30.

The dancers of the Ballet have been on strike, causing the company's fall tour and part of its spring tour to be cancelled.

Instead of the Ballet, mezzo-soprano Jennie Tourel and tenor Richard Lewis will perform at Wartburg.

MISS TOUREL HAS appeared on television with conductor Leonard Bernstein three times during the past year. She premiered his "Jeremiah" Symphony in Pittsburgh, and suhsequently Bernstein wrote two song cycles especially for her.

Since 1945, Miss Tourel has made nine tours of Europe, two of South America, four of Israel and one of South Africa in addition to singing in the United States.

LEWIS WILL COME directly to Waverly from London, where two days before his performance here he is scheduled to appear as a soloist with the British Broadcasting Company Symphony.

A transatlantic commuter since 1955, Lewis will be crossing the ocean six times this year. He was last in the United States for his sixth consecutive season with the San Francisco Opera Company.

In addition to the vocal duo, the only remaining Artist Series presentation is the Canadian Players' production of "Julius Caesar" Jan. 19.

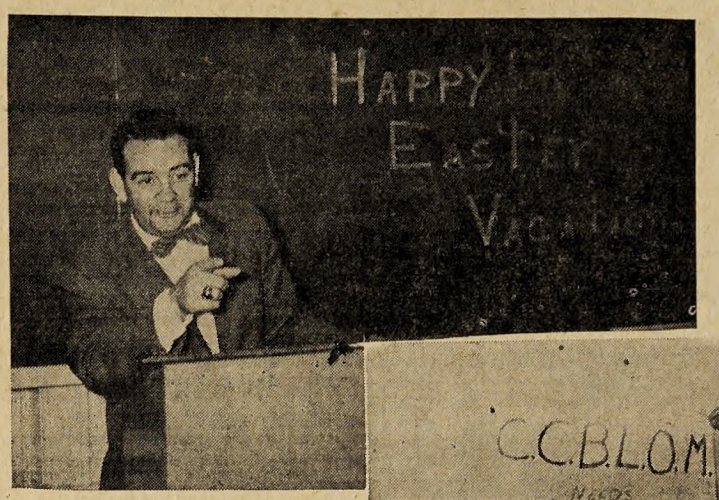
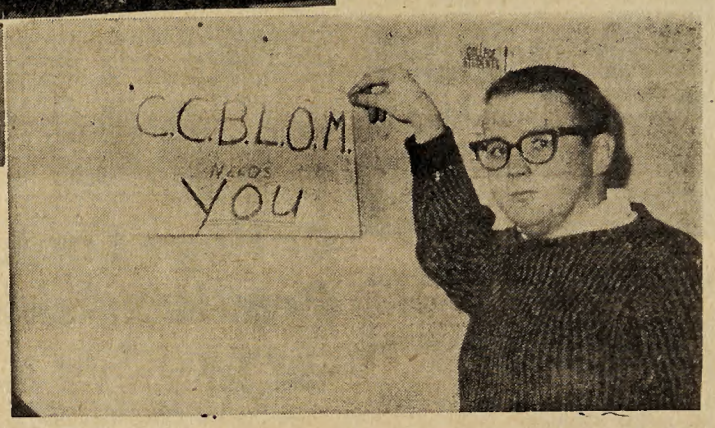
Signs Of The Time



WARTBURG STUDENTS are notoriously optimistic. While the lecturing James Moniz, Economics Department, emphatically shows that vacation is over, students look ahead.



THAT NOTED lighting expert, K. D. Briner, can be proud of his Citizens' Committee for Better Lights in Old Main. Over Christmas vacation, Old Main not only got better lights, it also got new paint.

Two Choir Numbers On NBC Radio Sun.

Two numbers by the Wartburg Choir will be heard on a National Broadcasting Company radio program Sunday, Jan. 8.

"A Joyful Psalm" by Moe and "Jauchzet dem Herren" hy Schuetz will be aired on the Great Choirs of America program.

Two selections will be heard on each of the programs Jan. 15 and 22.

Band On Stage Tomorrow

"Concerte Informale" will be presented by the Wartburg College Band tomorrow evening at 8 in the chapel auditorium.

The hour-long program of light music will feature selections from the musicals "Sound of Music" and "The Music Man." Numbers by Jerome Kern, Stan Kenton, Richard Rodgers and others will be played.

Tom Christensen, senior, will emcee the program. Four soloists will be featured.

Freshman Charles Waddell will play a cornet solo and Allen Mardorf, freshman, will present a saxophone solo. Playing a drum solo will be Art Schildbach, freshman. Ron Stille, freshman, will play a trombone solo.

Admission for the concert is 50 cents.

'Caesar' Coming Up

Tickets for the fourth Artist Series of the season, the Canadian Players' production of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," will be available next Thursday and Friday.

Students and faculty members may obtain reservations by presenting activity tickets in the chapel-auditorium foyer between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

ACP Rates 1960 Castle First Class

The 1960 Castle, Wartburg's literary magazine, was rated First Class, Excellent, by the Associated Collegiate Press, according to this year's editor Tom Maik.

"This was the first time in a few years that the Castle was rated by ACP," said Maik.

First Class is second in the ACP rating scale, the highest being All-American.

The editor of the 1960 magazine was Grace Jahn, senior.

Second Vote Set

Because of a tie in the college church council elections the Tuesday before vacation, a re-election will be held on second floor Luther Hall Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., according to Cathy Carr, council member.

Scientist Georgi To Visit Campus

Dr. Carl E. Georgi, visiting scientist from the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, will be at Wartburg next week.

Dr. Georgi will speak to Tri-Beta, honorary biology society, Wednesday evening, Jan. 11, at 6 p.m. in the small dining room. He will also speak to several classes and any other interested students.

Since 1953 Dr. Georgi has been chairman of the Department of Bacteriology at the University of Nebraska.

New Guide Service Asks For Workers

WANTED: Any student who is interested in working for the new guide service!

The Student Senate is planning to start a new guide service for the Admissions Office. This activity is being sponsored by the Puhlic Relations Committee of the Senate.

"The purpose of this service is to make students available at certain hours to conduct tours for prospective students," stated Fred Mai, student body president. "Students who are interested in this service are asked to volunteer as guides."

The hours at which these tours are scheduled are 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Each student would be responsible for only one hour a week. Before conducting tours, the students will meet with Fred Thompson, admissions director, to become acquainted with tour maps and plans.

Students who are interested in volunteering for this service are asked to contact Fred Mai or one of the members of the Public Relations Committee. They are Chairman Paul Wilken, sophomore Jan Horne, junior Karen Simpson, freshman Carol Johnson and junior Dan Ivey.

Teacher Education Requirements Listed

Committee on Teacher Education, Educational Policies Committee and faculty have approved eight requirements for students entering teacher education.

Beginning next semester a candidate must:

1. Complete satisfactorily the course in American Foundations of Education.

2. Complete English 101 and 102 with at least a 2.0 average. Students who fail to meet this criterion may satisfy the requirement by passing English 209 with at least a grade of C.

3. Successfully complete Speech 110 or 201 and in addition obtain a statement from his speech instructor indicating no serious speech deficiencies which may interfere with his eventual teaching effectiveness.

4. State clearly defined professional goals.

5. Indicate a preferred level of preparation in the area or areas of concentration to be followed.

6. Earn an overall 2.0 average in courses in which he has been enrolled and in which he receives a grade.

7. Be of good moral character.

8. Have a personal interview with a member or members of the department of education and get a statement of approval for admission to teacher education from his major adviser.

Controversial cases are to be referred to a special committee on interviews.

Dr. Edwin Liemohn Conducts Session At Sixth Annual Church Music Clinic

Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the Music Department, is participating today in the Church Music Clinic at Minneapolis, Minn.

Liemohn

This clinic is sponsored by the Augsburg Publishing House and open to organists, choir directors, pastors, students and others interested in church music. Six to seven hundred people from the Midwest are expected to attend this sixth annual clinic.

Dr. Liemohn is conducting a session this afternoon on reading of new music for the Easter season.

Last night a Junior Choir Clinic and an Organ Clinic were held and this afternoon a Choral Clinic is in session.

Neumann Speaks

Dr. G. J. Neumann, English Department, will lecture on the poet Rohert Browning Thursday evening. The lecture, sponsored by the Academic Life Committee, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Fuchs Lounge.

Babysitting Becomes Part Of Class Homework In Dr. Lotus Knief's Child Psychology Course

Members of Dr. Lotus Knief's child psychology class take their homework quite literally — they baby-sit.

As a part of course requirements, they must care for small children two different times during the semester. Ranging in age from three to seven years in most of the cases, the children are handled by Wartburg students according to methods learned in class.

Attention is given to eating habits, bed schedule and entertainment. Students attempt to maintain a homelike atmosphere at all times, in keeping with the theory of child development and behavior.

Not only do students provide the work, they must also find their own home for sitting.

Homework isn't what it used to be.

EDITORIAL—

Back To The Middle Ages!

It's almost the "I'm my own grandpa" story all over again as far as the auditing of college courses is concerned.

Hundreds of years ago, college was just one big audit session. Now auditing is so neglected that it might well be called the step-child of education. Although little publicity is currently given to this phase of the academic program, it is perhaps one of the most valuable experiences higher education can provide.

Under most Wartburg teachers, students auditing a course are not required to attend class. In other words, the fabled unlimited cut system is in operation. Likewise, there are no tests. The incentive of the almighty grade has evaporated. Any learning acquired is untainted by ulterior motive. The student is not required to keep up his assignments. He is on his own.

Actually, this is the educational ideal. The student learns because he wants to learn.

In medieval times colleges developed when students voluntarily gathered in one place so that they could be near their teacher. No class credits were added to their graduation requirement if they missed lectures. They did not drink in the teacher's words because they knew a semester final was coming.

They learned because they wanted to learn.

It's different nowadays. Education is trussed up by stipulations designed to make students learn. Somewhere between then and now, the ideal became so bedecked that it is no longer recognizable.

We have grown up in the restricted tradition. We learn because we have to, not because we want to.

Auditing a course is an excellent way to taste the true flavor of education. And it's cheap at Wartburg. A full-time student has to pay only two dollars per course.

For the student who carries a full class schedule and wants to take another course, for the student who wants to investigate other fields, for the student who wants to try his hand at being a genuine member of his profession, auditing is the answer.

Mass cut in the last convo before Christmas? No, everyone attended to see how many would cut.

If you resolved to do your next year's Christmas shopping early—there are some awfully good sales on right now.

For those of you who were afraid of getting lost in Old Main, a new light (or lights) has been cast on the subject.

This paper must necessarily retract a two-liner that appeared in its Dec. 17 issue: "As far as part-time jobs over Christmas vacation are concerned, it looks as though shoveling sidewalks is out." We respectfully withdraw from the weather forecasting field.

Was the odor of something burning in the chapel-auditorium on Wednesday the last remnants of a burnt offering?

Quizzes may make us uneasy;
Oral exams may make us blush red;
But when semester tests come calling,
We usually wish we were dead.

The campus finally caught up with the students. Now both are snowed under.

How to promote a panic: Tell a coed who has just finished stapling a 15-page term paper that the 14th page is lying on the floor.

Coming back to school is a lot like alcohol—it affects the head and the heart.

If more gripes were taken to a place where something could be done about them, we would all be happier — some by seeing things done right; others by just having things done; and still others by not hearing things that should be done.

AS TALC IS BORN

Merger Shows Co-operation

By Phil Truckenbrod

Midnight Dec. 31 as the high point in The American Lutheran Church Year of Jubilee and the official birth date of the new church was the occasion for much thought on matters of church co-operation.

My New Year's Eve included Holy Communion at one of Kansas City's Missouri Synod congregations with a group of young people representing five different Lutheran synods — quite an ecumenical event in itself.

AFTER THE SERVICE the group talked over some of the current co-operation among various church youth organizations.

I cornered Pennsylvania's Bob Menges, president of the ULCA Luther League of America, and Lelah Garner, Memphis, Tenn., chairman of the United Christian Youth Movement of the National Council of Churches, and asked them to comment on some matters for Trumpet readers.

Menges pointed out that the officers and staffs of the various Lutheran youth groups have worked with each other for several years in the All Lutheran Youth Leaders' Council, which meets once a year. (The Council is holding its annual meeting this weekend in Minneapolis.)

Out of this co-operation has grown such activities as the publication of Youth Programs and One magazine.

Because of this close contact, he was especially interested in the merger which formed ALC.

"I would consider the TALC and LCA mergers very significant but certainly not as ends in themselves," he said.

"I see them as steps in overcoming the differences, almost ridiculous differences, that exist now because of our groups' various national heritages and as bringing American Lutheranism into essentially three groups, which I should hope can co-operate in some form of a 'National Lutheran Council.'

"Through this we may be able to see total Lutheran organic union not so far away as it has seemed in the past."

AS THE DISCUSSION turned to the recent proposal for Protestant union at the time the National Council of Churches General Assembly met in San Francisco, Miss Garner explained that Dr. Blake's proposal was given outside the context of the actual Assembly yet could have definite policy reactions.

There have, of course, been various reactions to the proposal, and the obstacles to such a union are well known, says Miss Garner. Many churches mentioned have been involved in merger talks for years.

The UCYM chairman then added hopefully, "The time may be approaching when obstacles which seemed insurmountable in the past may be overcome and progress will be made."

Such a merger would affect interdenominational youth work in this country greatly. It would force us once again to consider just what it means to be part of the Church of Jesus Christ.

The difference between co-operation and organic union seems to be that co-operation merely seeks to perpetuate the status quo, which may not be a true expression of what the church is at all, while actual union is a more theological thing.

Menges commented that the reason Lutherans were seemingly ignored in the proposal was because other Protestants feel we must clear up our own divided situation and merger proceedings before we will be ready to consider a broader merger.

ALSO DR. FRANKLIN Clark Fry, who is "the voice of Lutheranism in the United States," was on World Council of Churches business in Africa at the time of the meeting and we were left without our usual representation.

Miss Garner added that the proposal could sound as a pipe dream now but might serve as an incentive for further merger thought and could be part of the step by step process.

Perhaps there is a need for a compulsion for union, such as the frustration of division felt by youth who attend ecumenical meetings like the North American Ecumenical Youth Assembly to be held next August.

Greetings to the new church were also in order from the head of NCC youth.

"We followed with interest and enthusiasm the merger which has produced ALC, and we are looking forward to the one next year to involve the ULCA (LCA merger)," she said.

"We hope for closer co-operation within the United Christian Youth Movement with these new groups and appreciate their participation."

College Looks To Future, Predicts Added Expansion

New Year's is a time for looking ahead.

For the Wartburg administration, however, looking ahead is not something that is merely done at New Year's. The administration is looking abead all the time.

In tbe projected program for physical expansion prepared by Wartburg Pres. C. H. Becker and his staff, the college is expected to reach an enrollment of 1,500 by the 1966-67 school year.

THE PROJECTED enrollment expansion follows:

1961-62 — 1,075
1962-63 — 1,125
1963-64 — 1,225
1964-65 — 1,325
1965-66 — 1,425
1966-67 — 1,500

Keeping pace with the enrollment, a number of new buildings will be added to the campus.

FIRST ON THE agenda is tbe new women's dormitory, the construction of which will begin this year. In 1962-63 it is hoped that the science building will start taking form.

Other buildings and their proposed construction dates are a men's dormitory, 1963-64; dining facilities (addition to the Student Memorial Union), 1964-65; additional gymnasium facilities, 1965-66; men's dormitory, 1965-66; and library-classroom addition, 1966-67.

Knights 'n' Daze

BE IT RESOLVED . . .

Soon after the Christmas tree comes down, most of us engage in that quaint old ritual of making New Year's Resolutions.

Often the charge is made that resolutions are futile because we soon forget them anyway. In order not to be vulnerable to such charges, I saved my resolutions from last year. Even a quick comparison will show that real progress is being made.

Resolved — 1960	Resolved — 1961
1. Bring my grades up before it's too late.	1. Salvage what's left.
2. Study more.	2. Study.
3. Sleep less.	3. Buy a better pillow.
4. Lose weight.	4. Buy a higger suit.
5. Run for President.	5. Transfer to Harvard.
6. Save more money.	6. Pay my bills.
7. Stop watching television.	7. Get stronger glasses.
8. Make more intelligent conversation.	8. Shut up.
9. Read 50 books.	9. Read a book.
10. Fight for better lights in Old Main.	10. Celebrate same. Kudos to those responsible.
11. Don't take on any more johs.	11. Get rid of that column!
12. Stop biting my fingernails.	12. Try to grow fingernails.
13. Eat less.	13. Eat less.
14. Give up all my associations with women.	14. Be nice to my wife.

Wartburg Defeats Central Last Night

Wartburg took its fourth straight conference game last night, defeating Central at Pella 79-65, to remain in a tie for first place.

The lead was stretched to the winning margin of 14 points after Wartburg had led by a bare three points at halftime. The Axmen's overall record is now 7-2.

HIGH MAN FOR the sharp-shooting Knights, who hit 47 per cent of their shots, was Bob Mueller, who bagged 23 points. Also in the double figures were Don Hein, 19 points, and Dave Jensen, 13.

The loss dropped Central to a 1-3 loop record.

Luther College beat Buena Vista, 65-58, last night, to match Wartburg's record of four conference wins and remain in a tie for first place.

Tonight the Knights take on the Simpson Redmen at Indianola, who are led by high-scoring Bob Tidgren.

NEXT WEEK Wartburg plays Gustavus Adolphus and Buena Vista.

The Buena Vista Beavers have posted a 2-5 record this year, exclusive of holiday tournaments.

In the conference they have won two from Iowa Wesleyan and Central, and lost three, to Parsons, Wartburg and Simpson. Against the Axmen, they lost a thriller in overtime, 90-84.

The big gun for Buena Vista this year has been junior forward Jim Ahrens. He has been ranked 12th in the nation among small colleges in rebounding. He also has been scoring at a greater than 20-points-a-game clip.

Others worth mentioning are Sandeen, a much improved 6'-6" center, and freshman forward Stroup.

ISTC Rolls Over Knights To Keep Tall Corn Crown

Iowa State Teachers College successfully defended its Tall Corn tournament title this year by trouncing Wartburg 100-53 in the finals.

The Knights took second place on a win the previous evening over MacMurray College, 81-68.

DON HEIN PLAYED his usual game, connecting for 25 points. Bob Mueller and Marv Ott added to Hein's contribution by bagging 14 points apiece.

Friday night, however, at Cedar Falls the Knights ran into a buzz saw. Besides shooting at a 52 per cent pace, the Panthers held the Knights to 19 points in the first half.

Pete Spoden held Don Hein to a mere nine points for the game while he and his teammates kept pumping in buckets at a torrid pace. Al Buenning also had nine points for the Knights.

JIM JACKSON led the Panthers with 21 points.

In the consolation round MacMurray College defeated St. Ambrose 89-64 for third place.

ISTC downed St. Ambrose 96-60 in the first round.

Tuesday evening before Christmas vacation the Knights defeated the University of Dubuque 94-87.

Don Hein took scoring honors with 36 points. Marv Ott and Dave Jensen each connected for 20 points.

Kerm Gets Jump On Taller Teammates To Show Stature Not Bound By Inches

By Bob Johannsen

It cannot be denied that tall men prevail in the game of basketball today. But in the person of Kermit Urbain, Wartburg has living proof that there is still a place for the smaller man on the hardcourt.

The five-foot-seven-and-one-half-inch guard from Walters, Minn., has captured the fancy of Wartburg basketball fans with his hard drives and quick reflexes.

It is not uncommon to see Kermit grabbing a placement rebound or wresting the ball from the grasp of a taller opponent. His quick actions on defense have accounted for mechanical errors by opponents and have started many a Wartburg fast break.

Kerm has done his share of scoring, too.

His best scoring performance in a Wartburg uniform came against Iowa Wesleyan, and resulted in an 18-point tally. During the 1959 campaign, while attending Waldorf Junior College, he bagged 40 points against Ellsworth Junior College.

The mighty mite enrolled at Waldorf after garnering eight letters in high school competition and receiving all-conference recognition in basketball.

He picked up six more numerals during his two-year stay at Waldorf before transferring here. He was given the Waldorf Sportsmanship Award in 1959.

Despite his success in basketball, Kerm's first love is baseball. He lettered at shortstop for the Knights and hit a robust .312. His batting averages have always exceeded the magic .300 mark, often climbing as high as .340.

Kermit is a physical education major and is planning to coach. He is presently vice president of the Student Education Association here and is a member of the W-Club.

Kerm

Although he remains noncommittal concerning the Tall Corn Tournament, Kermit is confident in respect to Wartburg's chances for the conference championship.

"We can take the crown, but Luther and Parsons will be tough," he said.

This confidence exemplifies the attitude of a fine guard, who, in his own words, "has tried to compensate for lack of height with speed."

Stature is not measured by a yardstick.

Grossmann I - B Ends Undefeated In Volleyball Play

Grossmann I-Basement team won the undisputed intramural volleyball title, winning over Clinton IIIA by forfeit on Dec. 17.

The champs finished their nine-game season without a defeat. Cotta, beaten only by Grossmann I-Basement, completed its season with a forfeit victory over Clinton II.

Clinton I-Basement and Faculty won similar victories. In the Vollmer-Married Men contest neither team showed up; thus both suffered losses.

FINAL STANDINGS

	W	L
Grossmann I-Basement	9	0
Cotta	8	1
Faculty	6	3
Grossmann III	5	4
Clinton IIIA	4	5
Married Men	4	5
Clinton IIIB	3	6
Clinton I-Basement	3	6
Clinton II	1	8

IM Basketball Starts Mon.

Intramural basketball will begin Monday, Jan. 9, according to intramural committee chairman Don Ringgenberg.

A total of 16 teams will play in the two leagues, the National and the American.

On Monday the National League will start its season. At 7:15 p.m. Grossmann IIIA will meet Clinton IIA, and Waverly will play Alpha. Playing at 8:30 p.m. will be North Hall B vs. Cotta and Faculty vs. Married Men.

On Thursday, Jan. 12, the National League will begin play. The 7:15 p.m. games will see Grossmann IIIB take on Clinton I-Basement and Grossmann II challenge Off-campus.

At 8:30 p.m. Clinton III will be pitted against North Hall. Grossmann I-Basement, the intramural volleyball champs, will meet Clinton IIB.

Matmen Tackling Augustana Today

Wartburg grapplers travel to Augustana of Rock Island this afternoon for their second dual meet of the season.

Knight matmen will be trying to start the new year off with their first win of the season this afternoon.

Thursday's tryouts produced some changes in the Wartburg line-up. The revamped line-up reads as follows:

123—Roger Damrow
130—John Sternberg
137—Bill Smith
147—Jim Mueller
157—Roger Hildebrandt
167—Duane Meier
177—Dave Kraft

Cruising Around

By Carr

Welcome back, everyone.

Now that we have had Christmas vacation to catch up on all of our studies, we have lots of time to go to meetings.

Or didn't you, either?? Anyway, here are some suggestions for your spare time this week.

● ● ● ●

Is this all Greek to you? Chi Rho will help Sunday afternoon at 1:30 in the chapel. Dr. Krodel from Dubuque will speak on "Breaking Down the Greek Barrier."

Phebes will be holding down the faculty lounge Sunday at 1:30 p.m., too.

Alpha Cbi members will be discussing how to apply the purposes of tbeir organization Tuesday night, 7 p.m., Luther Hall 102.

● ● ● ●

"Browning" will be the topic in Fuchs Lounge Thursday night, presented by Dr. Neumann at 7:30 p.m.

A note for your date book: The Lutheran Student Association Regional Mid-Winter Conference will be held at ISU — that's Ames — Jan. 13-15. The speaker will be Burnice Fjellman, program secretary of the Division of Colleges and University Work in Chicago.

● ● ● ●

Interested in new, sharp clothes? Tuesday night Business Students Association is sponsoring an informal program on men's clothes, with a speaker from a local concern. Fabric types, tailoring, and differences at price levels will be among the topics discussed.

A free style-guide book will be handed out. That's Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., Clinton Hall Lounge.

And, girls, this includes you. Some men's stores sell as much as 90 per cent of their clothing to women, for men. There are also many similarities in fabrics, etc., between men's and women's clothes.

This is another of the programs sponsored by BSA to which everyone is invited. More programs are on tap for later in the year.

Polar bear club? No, not quite. Members of the Physical Education Club may be swimming next Friday, but the water will be indoors at Waterloo. The group will meet at 6:15 p.m. in the gym lobby.

Seems like something special happens to several people here about Christmas time every year. I heard one girl explaining her situation to another in the hall yesterday. "Sure, I've been asked to get married several times."

"Really?" her friend exclaimed. "Who asked you?"

"My parents," was the reply.

Student Has Auto Mishap

"I woke up and found that I was heading for a bridge," said Ronald Gohlmann, freshman from Lost Nation.

Gohlmann had an automobile accident during Christmas vacation.

The accident occurred four miles north of Calamus at 1 a.m. Dec. 27.

GOHLMANN FELL asleep at the wheel. When he awoke, he found it impossible to keep tbe car on the road. He chose to take tbe ditch instead of hitting the bridge.

As the car went tbrougb tbe ditch, it left the ground and flew across a 25-foot creek. Plowing into the opposite bank, the right front wheel tore into the dirt and snapped the tie rod, turning the wheel outward.

THE CAR, a 1959 Ford, was totally demolished. Estimates of the damage were in the $1,000-$1,200 range.

Gohlmann's only injuries were a deep cut above his right eye and other small facial cuts. Immediately following the mishap he was taken to a hospital where stitches were taken above his eye.
